Title: The hills are alive with the sound of hacking ... don't wake the monkeys!

Subtitle: The State of the Hack in India. A place to be hack in the Himalayas (and at the beach!)

Speaker: SVA

We are a community of (hill)hackers from India and all over the world. We'd like to talk about how rewarding it is to setup a tiny CCCamp in the Himalayas, and how the hands-on collaborative approach works in the indian context. We'd also like to introduce various open spaces, communities, events and dialogues that are currently active in different parts of India. The history and diversity of open movements in India is inspiring hackers in the country to engage, contribute and learn from the global hacker movement.
